Dubbo Regional Council sought out Austek Play to design and install a new and inclusive nature themed playground within the region's historical Cameron Park, just beside Wellington's CBD.

Through its carefully thought out design and use of natural materials, this playground seamlessly blends in with its surroundings and provides a new space for families to come together and enjoy one of the best parks in regional New South Wales.

Custom Timber Units

Our dedicated team of talented playground specialists and designers take the time to understand your needs and vision, then works with you every step of the way to turn the wildest conceptual sketches into tangible, fun spaces.

We have a wide range of activities and components which can be mixed-and-matched together to create the perfect playground for your space and budget!

Our Process

Nature was our most important source of inspiration for this fantastic new playground done for Kenmore West Kindergarten.

Sheltered by the natural shade of surrounding trees, Austek Play designed a completely customised timber unit to fill the available space, in consultation of the customer. The result is a playground which seamlessly blends in with its natural surroundings, encouraging kids to explore and push themselves to reach new heights!

Natural Rope Play and Nature Trails

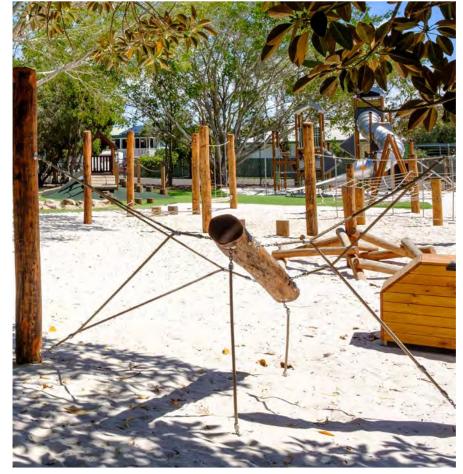

Rope Play improves coordination, encourages persistence and boosts children's confidence, as they challenge themselves to explore and climb in, on and around the ropes in a safe way.

We at Austek Play have a huge range of natural Rope Play modules which you can combine to create a bespoke nature trail-type area, designed for kids of any age or ability.

Why not add some extra elements to your existing area? We offer a range of trail elements, such as timber or rubber steppers, balance beams, and stepping stones which compliment and connect existing natural features with the new play equipment - efficiently using space and maximising value.
